Detailed Fault description
☐ Water, sand or fungus damage	By sending us a camera for repair that has existing damage caused by water, sand or fungus, you acknowledge and agree that: - While we will carry out the repair with reasonable care and skill, it is possible that existing underlying damage caused by water, sand, fungus or other progressive corrosion will prevent us from successfully remedying the fault. Alternatively, we may be able to repair the fault initially but the fault may recur or other issues may arise due to progressive corrosion or other defects caused by water, sand or fungus. You will be required to pay the full inspection fee and repair fee in circumstances where we cannot remedy a fault due to underlying damage caused by water, sand, fungus or progressive corrosion. We cannot accept liability in the event that any fault recurs or other issues arise due to progressive corrosion or other defects caused by water, sand or fungus. - We may decline to repair your camera if, after initial inspection, we determine that the camera cannot be repaired. The inspection fee will not be refunded in circumstances where we decline to repair your camera following the initial inspection.
